

I wrote to oppose relaxation of the cross-ownership requirements. Diversity of ownership is essential so that monopolies do not control the news and information available to communities. America should not be full of "company towns" controlling the local media.